dedication

With sincerest appreciation for the help and encouragement he has given us throughout our Thespian undertakings, for the faith he has had in our dramatic abilities, and for the trophies he has helped us to place in our trophy case, we, the class of 1958, in grateful acknowledgement of his achievements, do dedicate this year's edition of the LUANNA to the director of our Speech Department, Mr. John J. Jogan.

Miss Campbell has been in the employment of the Dalton Local Board of Education for the past ten years. She has been an outstanding English and Latin teacher. Many of her students have achieved success and prominence by rating high in the Ohio Scholarship tests. Her latest achievement has been the success of her Latin pupils in the Tri-State Latin Contest held at Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

Miss Campbell has also served as our school librarian during these years. The library has grown to be one of the largest and best and most used of our local high school libraries. Her work in this department has been one of the factors that helped Dalton Local Schools to achieve an excellent rating on the recent examination by the State Department of Education.

Many of the students will look back to her kindness and sympathy in the classroom. The faculty as well as the students will miss her friendly smile and ever pleasant attitude in the times of stress and trouble. We wish for her continued success and happiness in the coming years of her retirement after the completion of thirty years in the teaching profession.

history

One day in September, 1954, a group of fifty-four venturesome individuals prepared to enter the New World called High School. We had received our charters from our Junior High government leaders, after eight years of work and a great deal of study.

After sailing for three months, our ship docked at the New World port and we clamored ashore eager to begin our adventures. We followed the foot-beaten paths of earlier settlers in the wilderness of high white trees and low green shrubs that much resembled flat walls. We saw many narrow entrance ways into small settlements and climbed steep step cliffs. Finally, we came to a small unoccupied clearing where we decided to unpack and set up a temporary settlement. There were three other settlements near by, and a tribe of Indians whose tribal name was "Teachers." Two of these friendly Indians came to our settlement to advise and help us to get started. They were Mr. Gonter and Miss Seager. We decided to set up a small government in our settlement and elected the following officials: President, Bill McCullough; Vice-President, Marilyn Graber; Secretary, Gloria Domer; Treasurer, Myron Nussbaum. We also sent three representatives to the Student Council of the New World. They were: Margaret Moser, Bonnie Nussbaum, and Ronald Gardner.

On October 22, a group of settlers, called Seniors, gave a big party for us which they called "initiation." After this, we felt more like the other settlers. On May 17, we had a roller skating party. Some of our parents went along to drive the covered wagons.

By this time, we knew pretty well what we were seeking in this New World and we realized we would have to explore farther into the strange land. So, we packed our covered wagons and painted the sign "Diploma or Bust" on the side of the wagon. We stopped, after traveling for another three months at a new clearing and set up our government which consisted of President, Ron Blosser; Vice President, Fritz Sprunger; Secretary, Sylvia Slabach; Treasurer, Barbara Moser; and Sgt.-at-Arms, Dick Simpson. Our Representatives to the Student Council were Bill McCullough, Rodney Hostetler, and Elaine Kerstetter. The Indians standing guard over our settlement were Miss Campbell and Mr. McFarren.

We were now better acquainted and not nearly so bashful as we had been as we ventured to the trading post to order our class rings. Of course, we had to keep moving in order to reach our goal, so we gathered our belongings and left to seek other adventures.

In the fall of 1956, we stopped again and were met by two of our Indian friends; namely, Mrs. Shankleton and Mr. Gonter. First, we established our little government which consisted of Fritz Sprunger as President; Bill McCullough as Vice President; Sylvia Slabach as Secretary; Barbara Lehman as Treasurer; and John F. Lehman as Sgt.-at-Arms. Our Student Council Representatives were Ronald Gardner, Judy Horst, and Dick Simpson.

This year, we again went to the trading post and when we returned we were wearing our new class rings.

We saw that we would soon need more money in our treasury so we sold stationery with the picture of our log cabin on it. We also served the Rural Youth Banquet which helped us a little. On May 3, to provide some entertainment, we presented our class play "Our Town."

The theme "Moonglow" was used for the Banquet which we gave for the seniors who would soon be leaving us.

Following these activities, we again packed our covered wagons for travel. We repainted our slogan "Diploma or Bust" and by the time we were ready to found our last settlement there were only forty-four members in our group. Some had chosen to explore new paths and others had "busted."

We were pleased to find Miss Santschi and Mr. Howey to greet us this time and to have them as advisers. For this period of activity, our government consisted of Rodney Hostetler as President; Jerry Berg as Vice President; Barbara Moser as Secretary; Bonnie Nussbaum as Treasurer; and John F. Lehman as Sgt.-at-Arms. This year, we had officers in the Student Council as well as representatives. The officers were Bill McCullough, President; Bonnie Nussbaum, Secretary; Fritz Sprunger, Treasurer; and Rod Hostetler, Sgt.-at-Arms. Our Representatives were Barbara Lehman, Elaine Kerstetter, and Dick Simpson.

One day, we climbed on our horses and went to several near-by trading posts to sell advertising for the football programs. Another time, we went to see Mr. Davis at his trading post to have our senior pictures taken.

On November 14, we served the Equity Banquet. The following week we were busy getting ready for the dress rehearsal and presentation of our class play, "Cyrano de Bergerac."

In January, we saddled our horses and went to the trading post to sell advertising for the Annual. This was the beginning of our big job, publishing the Luanna.

With the Junior-Senior Banquet, the Senior trip to New York, and Commencement, we leave to explore further into the worlds unknown to us, but the things we have learned here and the friends we have known here will never be forgotten.

IN THE

prophecy

Walking through the lower hall one day, we stopped in the lab to talk to Mr. Howey. He asked us if we would like to see science in action. Of course, we did, so he ushered us into his "Time Machine" and told us to push the button marked "Future." We pushed the button and were lost for a moment in the whir of odd noises which followed. Then came silence. We decided that the experiment was a failure and knocked on the door to be let out. After what seemed like ten years, the door was opened, and we were surprised to see Daniel Gerber waiting to greet us. He said that he had taken over the science department of Dalton High ten years ago, after Mr. Howey retired with a broken heart when he lost several students in a time machine.

We took our leave of Daniel and decided to explore the new high-school building. Hearing music, we followed our ears to the music department where we found Elaine Kerstetter, teacher of vocal music, directing the mixed chorus. In another room, we found Dick Simpson teaching instrumental music.

A buzzing noise in a room across the hall attracted our attention. This was the sewing room where the girls from the Home Economics department with their teacher, Marcella Gerber, were making new drapes for the cafeteria.

Next, we stopped in the office to see Mr. Berg. Darel Danner, the truant officer, was returning several boys to school. They had developed the habit of attending school half-time and Darel was trying to explain the importance of regular attendance habits.

As we stepped outside the building to walk down town, we hardly recognized our little town of Dalton since it had grown into a city. We boarded a city bus driven by Gary Close. Our first stop was Chaboude's Service Station where Charles "checked the oil and filled it up with gas."

Our next stop was the new hospital which had been constructed by Ronald Kick. The mason work had been done by an expert, Maynard Yoder. When we entered the hospital, we were greeted with a smile by the receptionist, Judy Horst. In the hall, we saw Bonnie Nussbaum, a nurse's aid, serving a tray of food prepared by the dietition, Marjorie Hasseman. And, in the operating room, we saw Dr. Fritz Sprunger performing an operation with his most efficient nurse, Barbara Moser, handing him his instruments.

Feeling the pangs of hunger, we left the hospital and went to a restaurant across the street. We were served by the proprietor himself; namely, Ronald Gardner. Bonnie Blacksten, his only waitress, came to have a "chit-chat" with us when she saw us. She told us that the delicious chicken we were eating had been raised on Harley Gerber's poultry farm.

Our next stop was Ralph Basinger's Chevrolet Garage. There we saw Gary Steiner, the top mechanic, covered with grease from head to foot. Ralph very generously offered us one of his new cars to drive out to Jerry Berg's dairy farm. Jerry, with nothing to do, was sitting in the house listening to a rebroadcast of a Dalton-Waynedale basketball game. Dalton won this game, as they had all the others, since Bill McCullough was coaching. We recognized the voice of the broadcaster as that of Neil Amstutz. We asked Jerry about some of our former classmates and, since they didn't live so far away, we decided to visit them before we returned the car.

Driving westward, our first stop was the Kidron Electric Company to see Marcella Nussbaum. She was busy typing in the new office of the enlarged store.

That night, we stopped at Slabaugh's motel, owned and operated by Norman Slabaugh and the former Eileen Nussbaum.

After long hours of driving, we crossed the border between Illinois and Iowa. Since it was Sunday, and we were in Iowa, we drove over to "The Little Brown Church in the Vale." The pastor of the church was Larry Buchwalter. In the afternoon, he took us out to his small farm to show us where he spent his leisure time.

Our next stop was at Ray Norr's ranch in Colorado. Ray took us to see one of his tenants, whom we recognized as the former Margaret Hofstetter and her husband. The children, unlike their mother, were very bashful.

We traveled next to South America and had the privilege of driving on the new Trans-American highway which Myron Nussbaum had constructed after years of battling the jungles in South America. We stopped at a large experimental farm where we found Marvin Good teaching the Indians how to farm the scientific way. Being unaccustomed to jungle travel, we had developed the tropical sniffles. Marvin directed us to the village drugstore for medicine. The pharmacist, Rodney Hostetler, was happy to sell something to North Americans with whom he could visit for a while.

Going out to the coast, we boarded an "Around the World Ship" and after a boring forenoon we went to the recreational room of the ship. There we found Margaret Moser, the recreational director, who helped us to entertain ourselves.

FUTURE

class will

We, the members of the Senior Class of 1958, who are about to depart from the hallowed halls of D. H. S., feel that we should like to leave with our younger friends here some mementos of the happy days we spent together. So we hereby certify the following individual gifts as our last official act:

I, Neil Amstutz, will my magnificent ability to be a good football manager to John Hare.

I, Shirley Archer, will my ability to be calm at basketball games to Janet Zimmerly.

I, Ralph Basinger, will my ability to resist girls to Dave Gerber.

I, Jerry Berg, will my ability to run coaltrucks off the road and give Mr. McFarren a thrill to anyone who takes driver training.

I, Ruth Ann Bixler, will all my "gniworg" pills to Nancy McCullough.

I, Bonnie Blacksten, will my ability to have fun on bus No. 4 to Pat Lowery.

I, Ronald Blosser, will the city of Orrville to Dave Mizner.

I, Larry Buchwalter, will my class ring to anyone who can get it away from Carol Zimmerly.

I, Connie Cantrell, will my ability to have problems in bookkeeping to whoever is taking it next year.

I, Charles Chaboude, will my ability to lose my temper in basketball games to Mr. McFarren.

I, Gary Close, will my electric shaver to John Douglas.

I, Darel Danner, will my ability to study to Christy Nichols.

I, Gloria Domer, will my nickname "wreckless" to Lynn Weikert.

I, Ronald Gardner, will my artistic ability to Marilyn Tschantz.

I, Daniel Gerber, will my chemistry book to Randy Kratzer.

I, Harley Gerber, will mytaxi service to any safe driver in the Junior Class (if there are any.)

I, Marcella Gerber, will my calm and gentle voice to Mrs. Shankleton.

I, Catherine Good, will my ability to get along with Mrs. Shankleton to my brother.

I, Marvin Good, will my ambition to Sidney Amstutz.

I, Marjorie Hasseman, will my place in the concert band to Charlene Hostetler.

I, Margaret Hofstetter, will my love for Orrville boys to Bonnie Goudy.

I, Judy Horst, will my ability to stay home nights to Karen Eckard.

I, Rodney Hostetler, will my ability to walk to "Cat" Saurer.

I, Elaine Kerstetter, will my spot remover for my neck to Connie Bodager.

I, Ronald Kick, will my ability to keep my speed down to Dave McFarren.

I, Pat Killian, will my shorthand book to anyone who can use it next year.

I, Barbara Lehman, will my ability to go to class unprepared to Eunice Steiner.

I, John F. Lehman, will my used set of dimples to Jeanne Berg.

I, John Paul Lehman, will my ability to play ping pong to Kenny Huebner.

I, Paul Lehman, will my ability to do advanced algebra to Charles Meier.

I, Bill McCullough, will my ability to get racked up in football to Jeff Eckard.

I, Barbara Moser, will my nickname "Porky" to Delores Staken.

I, Margaret Moser, will my extra energy to Bruce Adams.

I, Ray Norr, will some of my height to Mr. Biggs.

I, Bonnie Nussbaum, will my thinness to Keith Goudy.

THE 1957 FOOTBALL SEASON

Red Riders Trample Bulldogs

The 1957 edition of the Dalton Bulldog Gridders began with a trip to Doylestown where they met the Orrville Red Riders in the Wayne County Football Preview. The Bulldogs fought hard but were out manned and were defeated 12-0 in the sixteen minute clash.

Golden Bear Claws Bulldog

After a week lay off because of an open date, the Bulldogs played host to the Waynedale Golden Bears in a Wayne County league game. The Bears pulled what can be considered an upset over the Bulldogs by downing them 26-6. The weather was very rainy and the field was muddy. The only Dalton tally came on a blocked punt which Ronnie Blosser fell on in the end zone for the touchdown.

Bulldogs Rebound Against Smithies

The Bulldogs traveled to Smithville to meet the Smithies in a league game. The Bulldogs fought hard and gained a 25-0 victory. Jeff Eckard scored two touchdowns on three and five yard runs. Another tally came on a thirty yard pass play from Jerry Berg to Lanny Royer. The final tally came on a twenty-nine yard run by Bill McCullough. John Price kicked the extra point.

Blue Streaks Whiz by Bulldogs

The Bulldogs traveled to Hartville to meet the Blue Streaks in a Saturday afternoon contest. The Bulldogs fought hard the whole game and held the Streaks scoreless until late in the fourth quarter when they came up with two touchdowns to down the Bulldogs 13-0.

Chips Raid Bulldogs

Trying to even up their season record, the Bulldogs traveled to Doylestown. This game was marked by enthusiastic rivalry between the schools. The Bulldogs fought hard but couldn't master enough power to down the Chips. The score was 18-0. Bill McCullough was injured in the first quarter and was unable to play the rest of the season.

Spartan Traps Bulldog

Next, the Bulldogs played host to the Millersburg Spartans in a Monday night game. The game was changed from Friday to Monday due to the flu outbreak. Both teams played a good game considering the flu. The Bulldogs were downed 27-13. Lynn Weikert scored two touchdowns and an extra point. Jeff Eckard added the other touchdown.

Indians Scalp Bulldogs

The Bulldogs played host to the Rittman Indians in a league game. This was Homecoming in Bulldog town. The Bulldogs played a good game but fumbles cost them the chance of winning. The score was 26-6. The Bulldogs fumbled seven times and the Indians recovered seven times. The lone Bulldog tally come on a fifty-seven yard pass play from Jerry Berg to Dick Simpson. Co-captains Ronnie Blosser and Bill McCullough crowned Sylvia Slabach queen of the 1957 Homecoming.

Bulldogs Chew Trojans

The Bulldogs played host to the Shreve Trojans in a league game on Parents' Night at Dalton. The Bulldogs ground out a 26-0 victory in the rainy weather. Lynn Weikert carried over for the first score from two yards out and added another score from four yards out. Jeff Eckard added two extra points and a touchdown. Martin added the other touchdown from the one yard marker.

Bobcat Claws Bulldog

The Bulldog traveled to Norwayne to close the season. The weather was cold and it snowed during a good part of the game. Lynn Weikert scored the lone Bulldog score from twenty-two yards out. The final score was Norwayne 14, Dalton 7. The Bulldogs closed the season with a 2-6 record.

prophecy con't

Our first stop, on this part of our trip, was in Africa, where we enjoyed ourselves very much at John F. Lehman's zoo of American animals. In the evening, we were entertained at a basketball game by the natives who were coached by Paul Lehman.

From Africa, we journeyed into Italy. In Venice, we found Barbara Lehman enjoying her favorite pastime, riding in a gondola. She said she could do this during her vacation from teaching English in the schools. Just as we thought, however, she was more interested in the gondolier, than the relaxation.

In Paris, we found Pat Killian modeling the latest in Paris fashions.

Upon our return to the United States, we went to see the biggest sky scraper of all times in New York City. Ronald Blosser had become famous for his part in engineering the construction of the building. High in the top of the building we found the fearless secretary, Shirley Archer, enjoying her work up in the clouds.

On our way to Florida, we stopped to go sightseeing in Washington D. C. There we found John Paul Lehman serving as press secretary to the President.

While exploring the hills of Kentucky, we came upon a group of Kindergarten children out for a hike with their teacher, Catherine Good. The children said they did this often because the teacher liked hiking better than teaching.

Our stay in Florida was very pleasant, because Sylvia Slabach's Dariette and her own special brand of ice cream helped us to forget the heat.

One day we saw strolling along the beach a short girl and a tall, dark, handsome man. We instantly recognized the girl as Gloria Domer and, upon inquiring, found that the man was her boss in the office where she worked.

Coming back to Dalton, we thought that we should stop to explain about the car. At the garage, the secretary, Connie Cantrell, told us that Ralph had gone to the school. At the school, the fourth grade teacher, Ruth Ann Bixler, told us she had just seen him go into the lab. Once inside, we were again attracted by the "Time Machine." We remembered how to work it, so we entered and pressed the button marked "Present." Again, there was the whir of odd noises and then silence. We knocked on the door, and it was opened by a smiling Mr. Howey, who was glad to see us back so soon and proud that his invention worked.
